

Grave Markers

A monument, great or small, stands as a perpetual reminder of the memories and the achievements of those who have passed before us. Anyone's remains can be permanently memorialized with a grave marker, which includes a record of the deceased in our files forever.

Moles Family Funeral Homes has a wide variety of grave markers available to meet nearly any request and commemorate the life of your lost loved one. Whether it's the type of marker, the level of personalization available, or even price, we're happy to help you find the perfect option.

Some people request a traditional flat grave marker, while others prefer the look of an upright headstone and still others choose the natural look of a rock or boulder to mark their grave. Some families wish to memorialize their loved one with a monubench, which offers a place for family, friends and future generations to sit and remember those who have passed.

Some people choose to personalize a grave marker with a quote or photo to remember their lost loved one by. Or, a person may request a military reference, religious inscription or illustration on their headstone before they pass. This, too, will determine the most appropriate type of grave marker.

Cremation Markers

Each of our Whatcom County locations offer an inviting selection room designed to showcase the many different grave marker options available, for both traditional burial and cremation services. In addition, our Family Service Advisors are available to ensure a helpful and comfortable environment to select the most appropriate grave marker for your loved one.

The Grave Marker Selection Process

We employ a three-step process to make choosing the appropriate memorial marker as easy as possible.

Step One

Choose the type and color of memorial:
flat, pillow, slant, upright, rock, bench, granite or bronze.

Step Two

Personalize an existing design or express lifestyle attributes of your loved one(s) and let us help design something unique.

Step Three

Review and approve a proof of your design shared with your family before the marker is produced.
